

About Us

Cabco Communications Group is an Atlantic Canadian provider of communication products, services and infrastructure for business.

Our focus on quality workmanship, technical expertise and providing innovative solutions to our clients has helped us become a partner of choice since 1980.

Experience counts. Choose Cabco.

WHO WE ARE

Cabco is the oldest independent communications contractor in the Atlantic Provinces.

Founded in 1980, Cabco's technical expertise, industry knowledge and range of capabilities is second to none in the region. This ensures our customers receive the latest advice required to transition their existing communications systems and infrastructure to newer, more innovative solutions.

Comprising six divisions, our team of consultants, project managers, technicians and installers have the experience, training and skills to ensure your business communications deployments stay on track and on budget.

WHAT WE DO

Our divisions encompass all areas of communications products and services, making Cabco a full range, "whole picture" installer.

By fulfilling both inside and outside installation, equipment and technical service needs, your company will benefit from the added cost savings and convenience of working with one contractor.

Cabco offers a full range of solutions, including: structured cabling and wiring, security, boardroom design, video conferencing, network consulting and implementation, business telephony, wireless, and more.

WHY WE DO IT

Our staff are enthusiastic about technology. They thrive in the ever-changing IT and communications world. This ensures our customers receive the best possible service through on-going training and our depth of experience.

The Cabco team's dedication to each job and commitment to our customers has helped us build a solid reputation and guides our continued growth.

Hiring the right people makes all the difference.
